SEE THE KEY

I believe that we are all looking for the music in our lives. The Key to that intrinsic rhythm; the beating of our collective heart. I see this searching all around us... in us. It is one of the best and most curious parts of us. But just what is the Key? And to what does it belong? What doors may it open and to where do they grant us passage?

Is it the sound of the playful laughter of the child finding their toes for the first time, the call of a new and mysterious animal in the forest, perhaps it is the soulful and building roar of a sea of voices chanting together for change.

What is the KEY you see..... What do you feel? The Key, that which opens the door to your hearts song?

This Piano is dedicated to Justin Levitt; a man, husband, father, friend and Musician. Both he and his music have deeply inspired me. They move me. They play wind to the sails of my most creative and human vessel. They send me on a journey.

I see the Key and it is curious, softly languid, electrically angelic, fearless and somber, filled with laughter, love pain and an echoing human pursuit.

I see the KEY..... What do you see?
